About Anowah

We were established in 1967, so our history is long and our experience runs deep. We have always put people with disability at the centre of service delivery and decision making. This has set us up well to embrace contemporary views on disability support and actively encourage our clients and families to drive their service delivery.

we are strong advocates for the authentic social inclusion of the people we support, and we innovate to make things happen.

Anowah is a small boutique provider of services to clients with disability, and we make it our business to “know” our clients across all our services and tailor our services to each client’s individual needs. Staff and management are dedicated to developing friendships and building personal rapport with the clients we support, so that they feel comfortable and confident to express their individual goals, aspirations and needs.

Anowah is an NDIS registered provider of Supported Independent Living (SIL) and Independent Living Options (ILO).

We have a number of houses located on our semi rural property at Horsley Park, and a number of houses within the local community.

We also actively partner with Community Housing providers to source suitable housing to meet our current and new client’s requirements.

We are very focused on taking the time to match our clients who are funded for a shared living arrangement, and we involve families and clients in every step of the process.

We have an “open door” policy and are always ready to pick up the phone or meet with families and carers to ensure the best possible collaboration and communication, in turn ensuring we deliver the best possible person centred care.

Anowah’s head office is located in Horsley Park, and most of our Supported Independent Living services are delivered in South Western and Western Sydney.

Anowah is host to a wonderful Client Hub at our semi-rural Horsley Park site which serves as a meeting place, social centre and base from which our clients can access community activities. All Anowah clients are welcome to access the Hub at any time to meet with their friends, family and other clients.
